

Kindergarten Music Lesson Plan
March 23 -27

Dear Musical Kindergarten Friends!

How are you? I MISS YOU!! I am sure that Mozart Mouse and Beethoven Bear miss you too! I hope that you are having fun with this new Online School Adventure! There are still some fun things we can do for Music Class even though we are not together.

Last week, were you able to listen to the Hello Song and the Goodbye Song and show your singing and actions to your parent or a sibling? This week I am sending you a picture of Mozart Mouse and Beethoven Bear in our classroom for you to show your family! They must be pretty lonely without us in there with them. Do you think that they are having fun playing all of the instruments while we are not there? What about Clara Schumann Cat? Maybe they are all just having so much fun with all the fun instruments in our classroom that they aren't lonely at all. ☺

This week, I want to share a video with you. I have used the Book and Cassette in my private music studio here at my house for many years. I was so excited to share it with you this year. However, when we switched to At Home Learning, I wasn't sure how I was going to share it with you anymore. But guess what?!! They have it as an online video now!! WooHoo! I can still share it with you! I hope you enjoy seeing all the silly animals playing instruments, and hearing the beautiful sounds they each make! Have you heard or seen some of the instruments before? Which ones have you heard or seen? Does anyone in your family play any of the instruments in the video? If you could play any instrument, which one would you like to learn how to play?

I am also including a link of instructions for you to make your own Musical Instrument. I hope you have fun playing yours when you are finished. Can you find anything around your house that you could also make music with? Do you have a metal measuring cup or pan and a spoon? When you tap them together does it sound like a Triangle? Do you have a baby rattle at your house? Does it sound like maracas? What about a bag of rice? Does it sound like an African rain stick? What else can you find in your house that makes music?

Have you heard the birds singing outside this week? Are they making music? What about the rain? Did you hear it making a rhythm pattern on the windows, roof, and the ground?

I hope you enjoy Music Class online this week!! I sure love and miss you!
